A LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

Dear Eckerd College Students:

Well, here it is – the yearbook at last. Maybe it's not the biggest and maybe it's not the best, but at least it exists. At this time I would like to make some comment as to the reasons for such a statement. Firstly, the students at this school (especially the class of 1987) have a negative attitude towards yearbooks. This is understandable in light of past years; however, it is important not to let the past reign over the present. Secondly, there is a certain lack of school spirit here at Eckerd, evident in the difficulty in obtaining dorm photos.

My reason for bringing these topics up is to encourage the elimination of these problems next year and in years to follow. Eckerd College has the potential for greatness in a yearbook just as well as it does in other areas. This is a great school and one where an individual can make a difference, as this yearbook testifies.

So, open your minds and believe in this school, and together we will all make a difference.

*Sincerely,
Michele Acker*

P.S. My best wishes to the class of 1987.

"... but one creature said at last, 'I am tired of clinging. Though I cannot see it with my eyes, I trust that the current knows where it is going. I shall let go and let it take me where it will. Clinging, I shall die of boredom.' The other creatures laughed and said, 'Fool! Let go and that current you worship will throw you tumbled and smashed across the rocks, and you will die quicker than boredom!' But the one heeded them not and taking a breath did let go, and at once was tumbled and smashed by the current across the rocks. Yet in time, as the creature refused to cling again, the current lifted him free from the bottom, and he was bruised no more. And the creatures downstream, to whom he was a stranger, cried, 'See a miracle! A creature like ourselves, yet he flies! See the messiah, came to save us all!' "
